

Join us for an environmental voyage of a life-time with experienced English-speaking guides who not only share their knowledge of the ecology of the area but are also professional paddlers.

The use of kayaks allows you to move slowly and silently through the mangroves, without the destructive wash, reverberating noise or polluting emissions of the more typical longtail boats.

SEA CAVES CANOE

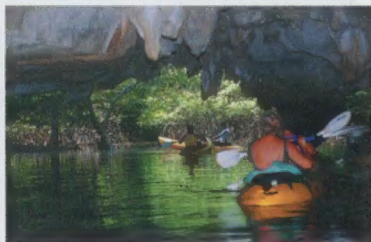

Sea, Land & Trek Co., Ltd.

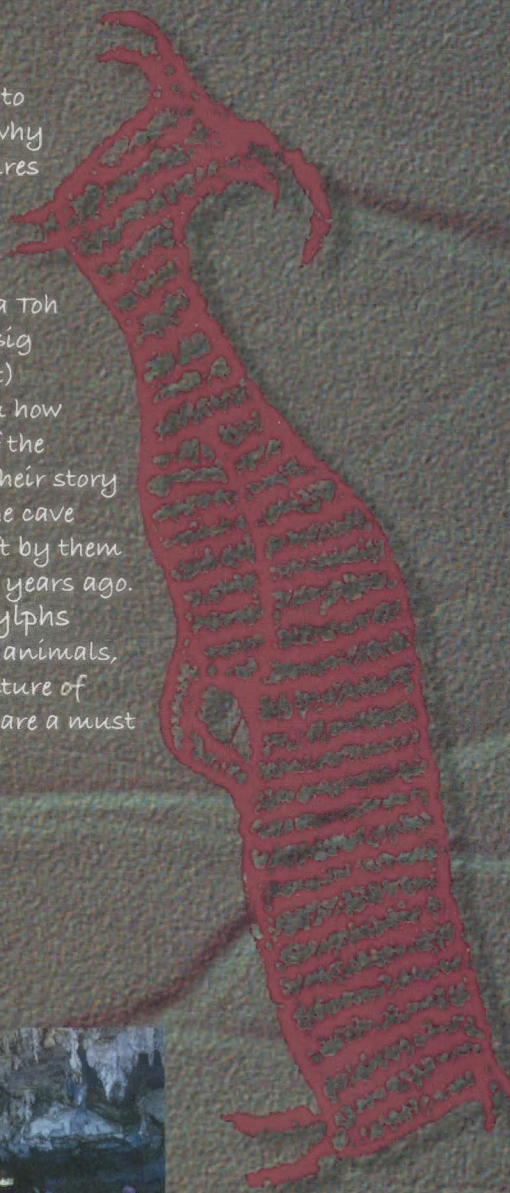

Explore the mangroves of Bhor Tor (Ao Luk) and see the ancient cave paintings preserved in Tham Pee Hua Toh with Sea Land and Trek kayaking specials.

Paddling their way through the wild mangroves of Krabi, ancient Thai cultures lived sustainably with nature, and resided in beautiful limestone caves decorated with bizarre cave paintings. In total contrast to today's rushing world, we give you the chance to slow down and return to nature, exploring these same mangroves using modern kayaks and led by experienced local guides.

It is not hard to understand why ancient cultures decided to settle here and a visit to Tham Pee Hua Toh (Cave of the Big Headed Ghost) will show you how they lived off the mangroves, their story depicted in the cave paintings left by them thousands of years ago. These petroglyphs illustrate the animals, birds and culture of the time and are a must to see.

Mangroves are unique habitats, rich in strange forms of wildlife. Long-tailed Macaques chatter and scream from the tree-tops, and as you weave your kayak further and deeper into the maze of creeks Fiddler Crabs WAVE as you pass by, and the peculiar Mudskipper hauls out onto the muddy banks and fight their territorial battles.

The colourful Mangrove Pitta gives it's loud echoing call during the morning, whilst the Great-eared Nightjar performs it's own eiry show later in the afternoon.

The only known area in Thailand for seeing the Mangrove Blue Flycatcher is Krabi and Bhor Tor provides easy viewing. Even for the non-naturalist, no-one can fail to be impressed by the iridescent flashes of colour as enormous kingfishers fly by, the striking karst (limestone) scenery rising like pillars into the sky, and the finger-like aerial roots of the mangrove itself.
